

Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement for EnerNOC UK Limited and EnerNOC UK II Limited

Fiscal Year ending December 31, 2017

UK Modern Slavery Act of 2015

The United Kingdom's Modern Slavery Act 2015 requires that businesses supplying goods and/or services in the United Kingdom report annually on the policies and practices utilized to prevent human trafficking and slavery in their operations and supply chain. This Statement is posted pursuant to section 54(1) of the Act for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2017 for EnerNOC UK Limited and EnerNOC UK II Limited.

Our Business

EnerNOC UK Limited and EnerNOC UK II Limited (each, individually, "EnerNOC") is a leading provider of energy intelligence software and related solutions. These solutions unlock the full value of energy management for commercial, institutional and industrial end-users, including the reduction of real-time demand for electricity.

During EnerNOC's fiscal year ending December 31, 2017, EnerNOC's business model was focused on software and professional-services solutions, and, as such, we relied sparingly on suppliers. Despite this lower overall risk of unethically-sourced labor, EnerNOC is proud to issue this statement to enumerate the steps that we have taken to mitigate the threat of slavery and human trafficking as part of our business and supply chain.

Our Commitment

EnerNOC has opposed and continues to oppose slavery and human trafficking in all aspects of our business. We encourage all employees to comply with the laws and regulations in all countries in which they operate. As part of this process, EnerNOC emphasizes to its employees the importance of the EnerNOC Corporate Code of Conduct and Ethics ("Code of Conduct"), which requires adherence to all applicable laws and regulations. Each employee receives a copy of the Code of Conduct when he or she is hired, and every year thereafter.

EnerNOC provides an anonymous ethics hotline for its employees to safely call attention to ethical issues they may observe or perceive. As part of the Code of Conduct, we encourage employees to utilize this confidential hotline to relay any concerns. This hotline is independently operated and overseen.

Our Supply Chain

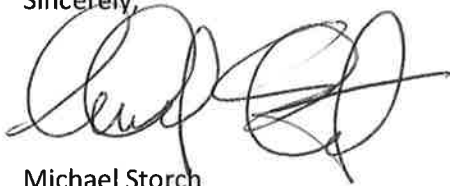

EnerNOC has opposed and continues to oppose slavery and human trafficking in all aspects of our supply chain. EnerNOC will not support or deal with any business knowingly involved in slavery or human trafficking. EnerNOC encourages and requires all employees and third-party suppliers to comply with the laws and regulations in all countries in which they operate. EnerNOC requires all individuals or entities acting on its behalf to know, understand, and abide by all applicable laws and regulations, including employment laws.

Our procurement process includes actively screening all third-party suppliers using an industry-recognized, regularly-updated tool to determine whether that supplier is included on the Office of Foreign Assets Control sanctions lists and to determine whether that party is otherwise included on a U.S. Government denied-party list. Furthermore, the Company performs periodic reviews of existing customers, agents, consultants, joint venture partners, and other third parties using our restricted-party screening tool.

To ensure our high ethical standards, our subcontracts include a warranty from our subcontractors that they will abide by all relevant regulations and policies, including applicable health, safety, and employment laws. Furthermore, EnerNOC is in the process of updating its agreements templates to require subcontractors to represent and warrant that they do not use slave labor. We will further require all new subcontractors to represent and warrant they comply and will continue to comply with the principles outlined in the United Nation's Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Sincerely,

Michael Storch
